Brooks, the swift proposition from Barton Heights, pitched yesterday's game for Norfolk and beat Richmond by the score of 8 to 5. He allowed but four hits and one of these was a scratch. But for the errors of his team he would have had a game to his credit that all of the curlewings would be envious of.

Long, the big slab-artist for the Lawmakers, dropped his first game. He permitted eleven of the men from the crew of the Sarah Jane to connect with his delivery, and with his many swats eight runs came over the plate.

There ain't no hard luck story to tell this morning, for Norfolk beat the Lawmakers yesterday because the Norfolk players played good ball and because Brooks had a shoot that couldn't be seen exactly straight. Titman, Clarke, Long and Rose were the only ones who could push the horrible to the front country. Each one did it once and then ceased to navigate in the waters of the seaport town.

Two Three-Baggers.

The visitors went to bat on the opening of the game and a chill went down the spinal column of four-score or more of Richmonders when Dingle just dinged one to the left garden that netted him three sacks. Keane, the Georgetown man, placed his oilskin shoulders against another of Long's twisters and this sphere also went to the fence. It struck the rightfield plank and when it landed again in the diamond, Keane was playing in the lover's part with the station nearest home. Dingle chanted his bells on the rubber. Evans struck out and Sweet Alice Benbow kissed one directly on the frontispiece for one sack. Keane placed his eleven-inch understanding on the plate. But Clark and McMahon killed the microbes and with the score two against them the Lawmakers unblinded to the bat. Titman made a good start for the Lawmakers when he landed on the initial sack by an error of Manager Clark. But Cuddy forthwith sent one to Clark and Titman died at second, while Cuddy went to the crematory at first. It was a neat double and the first of the three that the Norfolk aggregation pulled off on the diamond in yesterday's contest.

With a hit the Richmond bunch scored two runs in the second inning, and tied the score. The grandstand got wild and things looked good for the home boys. Sharp and Shaffer had died when Hamilton got transportation to the first sack. Cowan hit one to short and Benbow on first dropped it. Long nailed one to short and it wasn't handled. Hamilton scored on the error and the Lawmakers went to second on the play. Titman was hit by a ball and Long stretched himself from third to home. Cuddy got one to short that forced Titman at the second sack.

Four Runs in Fourth.

Four hits and error of Cowan gave the visitors four runs in the fourth inning. Benbow led with a two-sacker. Clark sacrificed him easily and McMahon got to long who threw to Hamilton and sought Benbow off the sack. The runner started home and Hamilton chased him until he was near the home-plate before throwing the ball. Then he pitched a swift one to Cowan, who let it get past him. It was high the fault of Hamilton, but Cowan gets the error. The ball could have been stopped, so it looked from the press box. This was but the beginning of the end. The Lawmakers, led by Dingle and Rose, who had taken Anthony's place, nudged the ball. He let it go through him, and two men came over. Edwards walked and Brooks singled. Dingle singled. If Evans had not been in the line, he would have been going on until this time.

After two men were out in the seventh inning, three clean singles netted two runs for the crew of the Sarah Jane. Clark, McMahon and Wynne got against the wall for keeps and the two runs came over.

The Lawmakers nailed their tag to two twines in the fifth inning, and in the seventh, after Titman had started with a corking two-bagger, another run came over.

The game, while not as exciting as yesterday, was free of all rowdiness. It was played on its merits, and on its merits Norfolk won. Shaffer, who played a good hard fight every stage of the game, but they were unable to connect with the sphere after Brooks had put his lily white finger tips on it.

In to-day's game, Manager Shaffer will likely use Laval, the southpaw, and as the majority of the Norfolk men are southpaw batters, he is hoped to win. But Stanley or Oley will twirl for Norfolk. Oley is the big left-hander. Stanley thought he might work yesterday, but after Brooks did such good work there wasn't any use.

Titman has a sprained ankle that may keep him out of the game for several days. Jack Anthony has the "chuckle horse," and didn't run yesterday. He was in the game yesterday, and Rose took his place in center.

A report current around the street that there has been profane language used in the grand stand is most amusingly denied by the managers of the park. The best evidence of the fact that the crowd is orderly at all times is that the wives and the daughters of the owners and the managers of the league and the park are regular attendants of all games.

Ladies in Grand Stand.

The only thing that has given the least semblance of a scuffle at any ball game here was the net of Manager Clark Thursday when he placed his hands on Umpire Wingard's shoulders and gave a shake. Mr. Clark regretted the incident as much as any one else, but he was angry because of a decision at the time. There was not a lady in the grandstand to protest in any way against the conduct. Nothing was said that reached their ears.

Yet in the last inning language unfit for the ears of any lady was used, but this, too, was on the diamond.

The wives, sweethearts, sisters and mothers of any person may attend the base-ball games in Richmond and feel certain that they will be protected against improper character.

DANVILLE, 4; ROANOKE, 1.

It Was a Superb Pitchers' Battle.

Both Men Doing Good Work.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

DANVILLE, Va., May 11.—Danville took the second of the series of ball games with Roanoke by the score of 4 to 1. The game was a pitchers' battle, both MacDonald, for the Tobaccoists, and Willis, for the Highlanders, doing superb work, the former striking out ten men. The first seven innings showed a string of goose eggs for both aggregations. The visitors changed the positions of the players around considerably to-day, and King Kelly, Roanoke's captain, did not play. The victory to-day places Danville ahead of Richmond and tied with Roanoke for third place. The following is the score:

LYNCHBURG WINS AGAIN.

Same Old Story of Portsmouth's Inability to Hit.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PORTSMOUTH, Va., May 11.—In a game replete with brilliant work by the players of both teams Lynchburg again defeated Portsmouth to-day by the score of 8 to 1. It was the same old story of Portsmouth's inability to hit. The audience showed its appreciation by the loudest cheering. It was one of the quickest games of the season, lasting only one hour and fifteen minutes. Three singles in the second and three more in the sixth gave Lynchburg her run. The game was really the star of the contest. Two of his running catches in left field were wonderful and brought the rosters to their feet. He made one of Portsmouth's three hits and scored his only run. The game was a great game at second for Lynchburg and robbed the Trickers of several hits. Cornelius and Carter both pitched steady, effective ball, but the Portsmouth man was unfortunate to have his hits bunched on him. McCormack made a great catch of a foul fly from Bowen's bat in the eighth.
